The Cornwall Dyslexia Association

The Cornwall Dyslexia Association is a self help group run entirely by volunteers and is dependent on subscriptions and fundraising. Many of our members are parents or teachers of dyslexics; some are themselves dyslexic. Our vision is of a dyslexia friendly society that enables dyslexic people of all ages to reach their full potential. Please join and give us your support - you will receive a regular newsletter with information about local events and the British Dyslexia Association's Contact magazine.

Our aim is to support the needs of dyslexic children and young people in education and adults in the workplace. To achieve this we raise public and professional awareness of dyslexia and campaign for appropriate provision for dyslexics in local schools and colleges and appropriate support in the employment sector.

We offer advice and guidance to parents, partners and friends of dyslexics as well as dyslexics themselves.

We provide:

- Information and advice through our helpline, drop-in advice days and website.
- Information sheets on a wide range of topics to do with dyslexia.
- Training workshops for those working in, the statutory or voluntary sector, in business, and those in education or employment services.
- Parent support workshops.
- An annual dyslexia conference for education providers.
- Talks and workshops on a wide variety of issues to do with dyslexia.
